Presents: Promoting School Success for Trauma Exposed Children

Presenter: Aileen D. Fink, Ph.D., Director
Trauma Informed Care, Delaware Children's Department

Advances in science have increased our understanding of the impact of trauma on the developing brain as well as effective strategies to help trauma exposed children be resilient and achieve success at school. This presentation will provide an overview of the impacts of trauma on the developing brain, implications of these impacts on social, emotional, behavioral and academic functioning and discuss strategies schools are using to help trauma exposed children thrive at school.
